LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Fellow Shareholders:

The six months ending January 31, 2014 witnessed strong stock returns in all developed markets, reminding us that the stock market is not a reflection of what is happening in the world at large, but a reflection of what is expected to happen to corporate earnings. I say this because, despite a number of highly dangerous events that marked the global stage during this period, Wall Street remained cheerful.

Here at home, the ‘just say no’ constituency in Congress forced a federal government shutdown, while the infamous computer glitches of the HealthCare.gov rollout sparked national discouragement.

Meanwhile, we witnessed more bloodshed in Egypt, a terrorist attack at a shopping mall in Kenya and a devastating typhoon in the Philippines. And in early September, we stood on the verge of military action in Syria. The ‘bright red line’ barring chemical weapons use had been crossed and more than 1,400 people, including many children, were killed. Weary as our citizenry is with war, many of us felt that there was no other option. And yet, war was averted and an international effort to destroy the stockpile began.

With all this going on, the U.S. and six other nations signed a preliminary deal with Iran to avert a nuclear weapons buildup. The events in Syria and Iran, along with Secretary of State Kerry’s determination to defuse the Israeli/Palestinian disputes, mark a hopeful shift in Middle East relations.

During this period of hope and fear, the looming threat of climate change was once again brought home. The Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change released its latest report, “the most comprehensive and authoritative synthesis of scientific knowledge about global climate change ever generated,” according to John Holdren, a senior advisor to President Obama. Following the fourth warmest year on record, many of us suffered in the grip of the Polar Vortex, an ironic reminder that global warming will bring unexpected and unpredictable changes. Speaking in Indonesia, Secretary Kerry warned: “It will soon be too late for action to prevent the immense costs of doing nothing.”

In the end, investors attempt to read the economic future of the companies in which they invest, which can be influenced by disastrous war or weather. But at least for now, these trends are not dramatically curtailing growth, and a number of areas indicate pretty good news for the economy at large.

In January, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, unemployment rates dropped to 6.6%, the lowest level since October 2008. According to Calculated Risk, the Fed's Household Debt Service Ratio, whether calculated with housing costs included or excluded, is at its lowest level in 30 years. We have also seen a continued gradual increase in housing prices. Housing expansion is a very important driver of the economy because when people buy houses they also buy furniture and appliances. While the recovery is not complete, the trend is comforting and greater discretionary spending is good for corporate growth. These are but a few of the reasons behind the stock market's strength of late.

The period also included two opportunities to reflect on how far we have come and what we can achieve when we unite against suffering and injustice. On August 28, we commemorated the 50th anniversary of the Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s "I Have a Dream" speech. Though the struggle continued, that speech marked a turning of the tide for many Americans.

Then in December, the world paused to praise and to remember the great Nelson Mandela. In many ways, the passion I carry for the field of responsible investing was shaped by the period between 1971, when the board of General Motors was asked by the Episcopal Church to close its factories in South Africa, to 1994 when Mandela was elected President. During those years investors in America put pressure on South Africa's government through a combination of divestment and shareholder activism. These actions helped to transform South Africa, and they also had a transformative effect here at home, galvanizing a new force for change — socially responsible investing. In this report, we mark the 20th anniversary of the Domini Social Equity Fund's first shareholder proposal.

In just six short months: The 50th anniversary of the "I Have a Dream" speech celebrated by a black American President; Our first female Fed Chair; An intentional shutdown of the U.S. government; Dramatic reminders that the human race is altering our climate, placing all life at risk; and the passing of one of the twentieth century's most inspirational leaders, whose life taught us that the impossible is possible.

This was a poignant period for me, and a time for reflection on what can and must be done to secure our children's future. The civil rights era was a formative period, and the lessons learned in the struggle for freedom in South Africa and the remarkable gentle man who emerged from jail to lead that nation forward shaped my professional life.

As always, thank you for your commitment to responsible investing and for your investment with us.

Very truly yours,

Amy Domini

We hope you will take the time to visit our new website and explore how your investment in the Domini Funds is making a difference. We look forward to receiving your feedback.

De-militarizing Amazon.com

In November, we wrote a letter to Jeff Bezos, Founder and CEO of Amazon.com, raising concerns about the company's participation in the militarization of the civilian firearms market after we discovered semi-automatic weapon accessories being sold on Amazon that could help gun owners increase the firepower of their weapons. Our letter was signed by 33 institutional investors managing $490 billion, and was covered by Reuters in December.

In a recent conversation with Amazon executives we learned that our letter was taken quite seriously. Most of the products we identified have been removed from Amazon.com and added to the company's list of prohibited items. The third-party sellers have been notified that they may no longer offer these items for sale on Amazon. We will continue to engage Amazon to ensure that they are doing everything they can to avoid becoming a marketplace for assault weapons.

CELEBRATING TWENTY YEARS OF SHAREHOLDER ACTIVISM

At a Goldman Sachs annual meeting, time was set aside for shareholders to ask questions. A man approached the microphone and announced that he was a guest, not a shareholder, and wondered if he could ask a question. “No,” CEO Lloyd Blankfein quickly responded, “only shareholders can ask questions.” In the corporate world, generally only shareholders have a voice. Shareholder activism provides us with the tools to open up this world to those that are affected by corporate activities.

For the past twenty years, your investment in the Domini Funds has enabled conversations with executives at some of the largest corporations in the world on a wide range of social and environmental issues. As a Domini Funds investor, you can take credit for helping to convince JPMorgan Chase to hire its first Director of Environmental Affairs and to adopt comprehensive environmental policies. After a five year campaign, you helped convince Emerson Electric to ban discrimination against its gay and lesbian employees. You have helped convince numerous companies to measure their environmental impacts and to adopt strong protections for vulnerable workers in factories around the world.

Since our first shareholder resolution was submitted in 1993, Domini has filed more than 240 proposals at 95 different corporations. The use of social, environmental and governance standards to select investments, combined with a shareholder activism program to help move them further in the right direction, has proven to be a powerful vehicle for change.

Below we discuss some of the ways that the Domini Funds have helped change corporate practices over the past twenty years. Over the course of 2014 and beyond, we look forward to sharing more success stories about how your investments have worked for positive change.

WHAT IS A SHAREHOLDER RESOLUTION?

Shareholder resolutions are proposals that are submitted and voted on by shareholders (i.e. the owners) of a corporation.

Corporations conduct annual meetings where shareholders elect the board of directors and vote on various governance matters. Shareholders may also place their own proposals on the ballot. These proposals may request that a company adopt labor rights protections for factory workers in its global supply chain, for example, or take specific steps to address climate change.

If a proposal is printed in the corporate proxy statement and is put to a vote, the proponent is given an opportunity to make a brief speech at the annual meeting, and the company has an opportunity to respond.

Getting on the Agenda

In 2009, we traveled to North Carolina to present our human rights proposal at the annual meeting for Nucor, the largest producer — and recycler — of steel in America. It was a small meeting, where the CEO referred to shareholders by name and pointed out former board members in the audience. It was clear that it was his show, and he used the meeting, which was broadcast live online, to promote Nucor and his leadership. But for the five minutes we had to present our proposal, attention turned from profit and loss to human rights. We spoke about Nucor's purchases of Brazilian pig-iron, a product that has been linked to slavery and illegal deforestation, and questioned whether Nucor was doing enough to ensure that they were not purchasing the product of slave labor. Within six months, we reached agreement with management on a strong set of new human rights policies.

From time to time, we have offered affected stakeholders the opportunity to attend meetings as our representatives and to speak for themselves. In 2005, a resident of Canada's Boreal region spoke as our representative at the L Brands annual meeting, the parent company of Victoria's Secret, about the dramatic environmental impact of the company's paper-purchasing policies. Company executives told us that her moving speech was a factor in their decision to adopt more responsible environmental practices.

Usually companies would prefer not to see these issues raised at their annual meetings, and they are often willing to negotiate to see if agreement can be reached to withdraw the proposal. In addition, shareholder support has risen substantially in recent years. While we once celebrated a 10% vote, votes of 20-30% are now common as many large investors have come around to our way of thinking.

A significant vote on a shareholder proposal can often be sufficient to move the needle. For example, when our proposal asking Verizon Communications to disclose its political contributions received a 33% vote, the company acceded to our request. After several years, AT&T finally agreed to match Verizon's commitment when our proposal received a 39% vote at its 2012 annual meeting. We continue to press them to expand these disclosures.

The Importance of Transparency

Over the past twenty years, we have seen dramatic changes in how companies address working conditions in their global supply chains. In the late 1990s, it was still possible to hear company executives tell us that they had no responsibility for these factories, because they did not own them. Today, corporate executives ask for advice on how to solve intractable issues like excessive working hours and recurring safety violations. The old denials have largely fallen by the wayside.

How can we ensure that companies pay sufficient attention to working conditions in the factories and farms that produce their products? Quality public reporting can help to ensure accountability, by allowing investors and others to monitor corporate progress over time.

In 2002, we had good information that Gap was a leader in protecting the rights of workers in its global supply chain, but there was no publicly available data to allow us to evaluate these efforts. Our shareholder proposal changed all of that, resulting in an agreement by Gap to produce a transparent report discussing working conditions in its suppliers' factories. That report was the first time an apparel company had publicly reported on these issues, and it received worldwide media attention. Soon, other companies, including Hewlett-Packard and Nike, began to report this information, building on Gap's model.

Domini has been pleased to serve as a member of Gap's "Public Reporting Working Group" (PRWG), advising the company on each of its subsequent reports, each of which includes a statement from the PRWG. The company has repeatedly told us that the process of preparing these reports has helped it to improve its performance and do a better job of protecting workers' rights.

A Catalyst for Change

Just as our actions can have ripple effects throughout an industry, we also look for opportunities to catalyze progress at key companies. Over the past few years, Apple has been making unwelcome headlines for labor conditions at Foxconn*, a key Chinese supplier to the global electronics industry and the manufacturer of many Apple products.

But Apple was not in the headlines back in 2005 when we first wrote to Steve Jobs, asking how the company ensures that its supply chain is free of child labor and other abusive working conditions. Our shareholder proposal kept the issue on the table through detailed negotiations with Apple executives. We ultimately reached agreement when Apple adopted its first code of conduct applying labor and environmental standards to all factories manufacturing its products, including strong language we proposed on forced labor and union rights. This engagement led to an ongoing dialogue with the company that continues to this day.

The Walt Disney Company provides one case study of how corporations have changed over the past twenty years to embrace sustainability goals. Our engagement with the company began in 1996, in partnership with other investors affiliated with the Interfaith Center on Corporate Responsibility (ICCR), focusing on sweatshops. This dialogue led to the creation of the company's International Labor Standards program and significant enhancements to the company's factory monitoring. We even visited Disney supplier factories to provide our feedback, as trust between the company and the shareholder coalition solidified. We have raised numerous issues with the company over the years and have witnessed dramatic changes. Disney now publishes a comprehensive sustainability report with clear social and environmental goals.

A Meeting of the Minds

The shareholder proposal is not an end in itself. It is an effective tool to promote dialogue, and dialogue is where the work really gets done. By 2003, overproduction and falling prices led to a crisis in the coffee market, leaving millions of farmers unable to feed, clothe and educate their families. Fair Trade certification guarantees farmers a minimum price for their coffee, protecting farmers from fluctuating market prices and allowing them to plan for the future.

At that time, Procter & Gamble was one of the world's largest coffee roasters, and the owner of the Folgers brand (it has since spun off its coffee business). The company was not opposed to lending assistance to farmers, but it also was not convinced that Fair Trade was the right solution. It took a series of meetings to finally convince the company that Fair Trade made sense and was a necessary corrective to a clear market failure. After months of dialogue with an investor group co-led by Domini, Procter & Gamble offered its first line of Fair Trade Certified® coffee.

Corporations may seem like large monolithic entities, but it often takes a human connection to make progress on these issues. Ultimately, we succeeded with Procter & Gamble — as we have with other companies — because a key executive was willing to seriously listen to our concerns with an open mind.

A Global Reach

As the world has changed over the past twenty years, so has Domini. We offered our first mutual fund investing in foreign companies in 2005. Today, the Domini International Social Equity Fund invests in companies based in Europe, the Pacific-Asia region and throughout the world, offering us new opportunities for engagement. Although it is generally not possible to file shareholder proposals outside of the United States, we have exercised influence through letter-writing, direct dialogue and proxy voting.

In 2006, our research uncovered a link between Toyota Motor and the Burmese military regime, through a Toyota affiliate. Although we have never invested in Toyota, we took action nonetheless. Our three-year engagement, in partnership with Toyota shareholders, ultimately resulted in Toyota's partner ending its relationship with the military regime. We also regularly participate in investor dialogues with companies operating in conflict zones, including Syria and Sudan, although these companies are generally excluded from our Funds by our human rights standards.

We have always taken a strong stand on board diversity, voting against all-white, male boards. Japan ranks lowest in the world on board diversity, where only 1.1% of corporate directors are female. In response to this serious problem, each year for the past several years, the Domini International Social Equity Fund has voted against the board for virtually every Japanese company in its portfolio, and we have written letters to these companies to explain the reason for our vote.

Our Current Priorities

Currently, we are working to encourage companies to adopt more stringent policies to protect forests around the world, to disclose their political contributions, and to take greater responsibility for worker health and safety in Bangladesh. We are speaking with several energy companies about their efforts to reduce methane emissions in their operations, a potent greenhouse gas. We also submitted a brand new proposal to Google, asking for a policy to ensure that the company carefully considers the impact of its tax practices around the world on employees and communities. The company has been at the center of a global debate about corporate tax avoidance.

Past performance is no guarantee of future results. The Fund's returns quoted above represent past performance after all expenses. Investment return, principal value, and yield will fluctuate. Your shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Call 1-800-582-6757 or visit www.domini.com for performance information current to the most recent month-end, which may be lower or higher. A 2.00% fee applies to sales/exchanges made less than 30 days after the settlement of purchase/exchange, with certain exceptions. Quoted performance data does not reflect the deduction of this fee, which would reduce the performance quoted. See the Fund's prospectus for further information.

For the period reported in its current prospectus, during which net operating expenses were capped by the Fund's Manager, the Fund's gross annual operating expenses totaled 1.24% (Investor shares) and 0.97% (Institutional shares) of net assets representing each share class, respectively. Until 11/30/14, the Fund's Manager has contractually agreed to limit certain ordinary expenses to 0.95% (Investor shares) and 0.65% (Institutional shares) of its average daily net assets representing each share class, respectively, absent an earlier modification by the Fund's Board. The Fund's total returns would have been lower without these limits.

The table does not reflect the deduction of taxes that a shareholder would pay on Fund distributions or the redemption of Fund shares. Total return for the Domini Social Bond Fund is based on the Fund's net asset values and assumes all dividend and capital gains were reinvested. An investment in the Fund is not a bank deposit and is not insured. You may lose money.

The Domini Social Bond Fund is not insured and is subject to market risks, interest rate risks and credit risks. During periods of rising interest rates, bond funds can lose value. The Fund's community development investments may be unrated and may carry greater risk than the Fund's other holdings. The Fund currently holds a large percentage of its portfolio in mortgage-backed securities. During periods of falling interest rates these securities may prepay the principal due, which may lower the Fund's return by causing it to reinvest at lower interest rates.

The Barclays Capital Intermediate Aggregate (BCIA) Index is an unmanaged index of intermediate-duration fixed-income securities. You cannot invest directly in an index.

¹Institutional shares were not offered prior to November 30, 2011. All performance information for time periods beginning prior to November 30, 2011, is the performance of the Investor shares. This performance has not been adjusted to reflect the lower expenses of the Institutional shares.

DOMINI FUNDS EXPENSE EXAMPLE (Unaudited)

As a shareholder of the Domini Funds, you incur two types of costs:

- (1) Transaction costs such as redemption fees deducted from any redemption or exchange proceeds if you sell or exchange shares of the fund after holding them less than 30 days and sales charges (loads) on Class A shares and
- (2) Ongoing costs, including management fees, distribution (12b-1) fees, and other Fund expenses.

This example is intended to help you understand your ongoing costs (in dollars) of investing in the Fund and to compare these costs with the ongoing costs of investing in other mutual funds. The example is based on an investment of $1,000 invested on August 1, 2013, and held through January 31, 2014.

Certain Account Fees

Some accounts are subject to recurring annual service fees and maintenance fees that are not included in the expenses shown in the table. If your account was subject to these fees, then the actual account values at the end of the period would be lower and the actual expense would be higher. You may avoid the annual service fee by choosing paperless electronic delivery of statements, prospectuses, shareholder reports and other materials.

Actual Expenses

The line of the table captioned “Actual Expenses” below provides information about actual account value and actual expenses. You may use the information in this line, together with the amount invested, to estimate the expenses that you paid over the period as follows:

- (1) Divide your account value by $1,000.
- (2) Multiply your result in step 1 by the number in the first line under the heading “Expenses Paid During Period” in the table.

The result equals the estimated expenses you paid on your account during the period.

Hypothetical Expenses

The second line of the table below provides information about hypothetical account values and hypothetical expenses based on the Fund’s actual expense ratio and an assumed rate of return of 5% per year before expenses, which is not the Fund’s return. The hypothetical account values and expenses may not be used to estimate actual ending account balance or expenses you paid for the period. You may use this information to compare the ongoing costs of investing in the Fund and other mutual funds. To do so, compare this 5% hypothetical example with the 5% hypothetical example that appears in the shareholder reports of the other funds.

Please note that the expenses shown in the table are meant to highlight your ongoing costs only and do not reflect any transactional costs, such as redemption fees. Therefore, the second line of the table is useful in comparing ongoing costs only, and will not help you determine the relative total costs of owning different funds. In addition, if these transactional costs were included, your costs would have been higher.

1. ORGANIZATION AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The Domini Social Investment Trust is a Massachusetts business trust registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 as an open-end management investment company. The Domini Social Investment Trust comprises three separate series: Domini Social Equity Fund, Domini International Social Equity Fund (formerly, Domini European PacAsia Social Equity Fund), and Domini Social Bond Fund (each the “Fund,” collectively the “Funds”). The financial statements of the Domini Social Bond Fund are included on page 60 of this report. The Domini Social Equity Fund offers Investor shares, Class A shares, Institutional shares and Class R shares. The Domini International Social Equity Fund offers Investor shares, Class A shares and Institutional Shares.

Institutional shares of the Domini International Social Equity Fund were not offered prior to November 30, 2012. The Investor shares, Institutional shares and Class R shares are sold at their offering price, which is net asset value. The Class A shares are sold with a front-end sales charge (load) of up to 4.75%. Class R shares are generally available only to certain eligible retirement plans and endowments, foundations, religious organizations, and other tax-exempt entities that are approved by the Fund’s Distributor. All classes of shares have identical rights and voting privileges with respect to the Fund in general and exclusive voting rights on matters that affect that class alone. Earnings, net assets, and net asset value per share may differ due to each class having its own expenses, such as transfer and shareholder servicing agent fees and registration fees, directly attributable to that class. Class R shares are not subject to distribution and service fees. Institutional shares are not subject to distribution fees.

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates. The following is a summary of the Funds’ significant accounting policies.

(A) Valuation of Investments. Securities listed or traded on national securities exchanges are valued at the last sale price reported by the security’s primary exchange or, if there have been no sales that day, at the mean of the current bid and ask price that represents the current value of the security. Securities listed on the NASDAQ National Market System are valued using the NASDAQ

Official Closing Price (the “NOCP”). If an NOCP is not available for a security listed on the NASDAQ National Market System, the security will be valued at the last sale price or, if there have been no sales that day, at the mean of the current bid and ask price. Securities for which market quotations are not readily available or as a result of an event occurring after the close of the foreign market but before pricing the Funds are valued at fair value as determined in good faith under procedures established by and under the supervision of the Funds’ Board of Trustees. Securities that are primarily traded on foreign exchanges generally are valued at the closing price of such securities on their respective exchanges, except that if the Trusts’ manager or submanager, as applicable, is of the opinion that such price would result in an inappropriate value for a security, including as a result of an occurrence subsequent to the time a value was so established, then the fair value of those securities may be determined by consideration of other factors (including the use of an independent pricing service) by or under the direction of the Board of Trustees or its delegates.

The Funds follow a fair value hierarchy that distinguishes between (a) market participant assumptions developed based on market data obtained from sources independent of the reporting entity (observable inputs) and (b) the Fund’s own assumptions about market participant assumptions developed based on the best information available in the circumstances (unobservable inputs). These inputs are used in determining the value of the Funds’ investments and are summarized in the following fair value hierarchy:

Level 1 — quoted prices in active markets for identical securities

Level 2 — other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar securities, interest rates, and evaluated quotation obtained from pricing services)

Level 3 — significant unobservable inputs (including the Funds’ own assumptions in determining the fair value of investments)

The inputs or methodology used for valuing securities are not an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities.

DOMINI INTERNATIONAL SOCIAL EQUITY FUND
January 31, 2014 (Unaudited)

The following is a reconciliation of Level 3 assets for which significant unobservable inputs were used to determine fair value:

	Domini International Social Equity Fund
Investments in Securities
Balance as of July 31, 2013	$ 9,315
Realized gain (loss)	-
Change in unrealized appreciation (depreciation)	(32)
Purchases	-
Sales	-
Transfers in and/or out of Level Three	7,271
Balance as of January 31, 2014	$ 16,554
The change in unrealized appreciation (depreciation) included in earnings relating to securities still held at January 31, 2014:	$ (578)

Transfers from Level 1 to Level 3 included securities valued at $239,880 that were transferred as a result of quoted prices in active markets not being readily available. Transfers out of Level 3 into Level 1 included securities valued at $232,609 because market values were readily available from a pricing agent for which fair value factors were previously applied.

(B) Repurchase Agreements. The Funds may enter into repurchase agreements with selected banks or broker-dealers. Each repurchase agreement is recorded at cost, which approximates fair value. The Funds require that collateral, represented by securities (primarily U.S. government agency securities), in a repurchase transaction be maintained in a segregated account with a custodian bank in a manner sufficient to enable each Fund to obtain those securities in the event of a default of the counterparty. In the event of default or bankruptcy by another party to the repurchase agreement, retention of the collateral may be subject to legal proceedings.

(C) Foreign Currency Translation. Securities and other assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into U.S. dollar amounts on the date of valuation. Purchases and sales of securities, and income and expense items denominated in foreign currencies, are translated into U.S. dollar amounts on the respective dates of such transactions. Occasionally, events impact the availability or reliability of foreign exchange rates used to convert the U.S. dollar equivalent value. If such an event occurs, the foreign exchange rate will be valued at fair value using procedures established and approved by the Board of Trustees.

DOMINI SOCIAL EQUITY FUND
January 31, 2014 (Unaudited)

The Funds do not separately report the effect of fluctuations in foreign exchange rates from changes in market prices on securities held. Such fluctuations are included with the net realized and unrealized gain or loss from investments. Realized foreign exchange gains or losses arise from sales of foreign currencies, currency gains or losses realized between the trade and settlement dates on securities transactions, and the difference between the recorded amounts of dividends, interest, and foreign withholding taxes and the U.S. dollar equivalent of the amounts actually received or paid. Net unrealized foreign exchange gains and losses arise from changes in fair value of assets and liabilities other than investments in securities held at the end of the reporting period, resulting from changes in exchange rates.

(D) Foreign Currency Contracts. When the Funds purchase or sell foreign securities they enter into foreign exchange contracts to minimize foreign exchange risk from the trade date to the settlement date of the transactions. A foreign exchange contract is an agreement between two parties to exchange different currencies at an agreed-upon exchange rate on a specified date. There were no open contracts at January 31, 2014.

(E) Investment Transactions, Investment Income and Dividends to Shareholders. The Funds earn income daily, net of Fund expenses. Dividends to shareholders of the Domini International Social Equity Fund are usually declared and paid semiannually from net investment income. Dividends to shareholders of the Domini Social Equity Fund are usually declared and paid quarterly from net investment income. Distributions to shareholders of realized capital gains, if any, are made annually. Distributions are determined in conformity with income tax regulations, which may differ from generally accepted accounting principles. Reclassifications have been made to the Funds' components of net assets to reflect income and gains available for distribution (or available capital loss carryovers, as applicable) under income tax regulations.

Investment transactions are accounted for on trade date. Realized gains and losses from security transactions are determined on the basis of identified cost. Interest income is recorded on an accrual basis. Dividend income, net of any applicable withholding tax, is recorded on the ex-dividend date or for certain foreign securities, when the information becomes available to the Funds.

(F) Federal Taxes. Each Fund's policy is to comply with the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code applicable to regulated investment companies and to distribute substantially all of its taxable income, including net realized gains, if any, within the prescribed time periods. Accordingly, no provision for federal income or excise tax is deemed necessary.

January 31, 2014 (Unaudited)

As of January 31, 2014, tax years 2010 through 2013 remain subject to examination by the Funds' major tax jurisdictions, which include the United States of America, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and New York State.

(G) Redemption Fees. Redemptions and exchanges of Fund shares held less than 30 days may be subject to the Funds' redemption fee, which is 2% of the amount redeemed. Such fees are retained by the Funds and are recorded as an adjustment to paid-in capital.

(H) Other. Income, expenses (other than those attributable to a specific class), gains, and losses are allocated on a daily basis to each class of shares based upon the relative proportion of net assets represented by such class. Operating expenses directly attributable to a specific class are charged against the operations of that class.

(I) Indemnification. The Funds' organizational documents provide current and former trustees and officers with a limited indemnification against liabilities arising in connection with the performance of their duties to the Funds. In the normal course of business, the Funds may also enter into contracts that provide general indemnifications. The Funds' maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown as this would be dependent on future claims that may be made against the Funds. The risk of material loss from such claims is considered remote.

5. NEW ACCOUNTING PRONOUNCEMENTS

In December 2011, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (“FASB”) issued Accounting Standard Update (“ASU”) No. 2011-11, Disclosures about Offsetting Assets and Liabilities. ASU 2011-11, which amends FASB ASC Topic 210, Balance Sheet, creates new disclosure requirements which require entities to disclose both gross and net information for derivatives and other financial instruments that are either offset in the Statement of Assets and Liabilities or subject to an enforceable master netting arrangement or similar agreement. The disclosure requirements are effective for interim and annual reporting periods beginning on or after January 1, 2013.

As of January 31, 2014, management of the Funds has concluded, that no additional financial statement disclosure is necessary as a result of adopting this ASU.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
January 31, 2014 (Unaudited)

1. ORGANIZATION AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The Domini Social Bond Fund (the “Fund”) is a series of the Domini Social Investment Trust. The Trust is a Massachusetts business trust registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 as an open-end management investment company. The Fund offers Investor Shares and Institutional Shares. Institutional shares were not offered prior to November 30, 2011. Each class of shares is sold at its offering price, which is net asset value. The Institutional shares may only be purchased by or for the benefit of investors that meet the minimum investment requirements, fall within the following categories: endowments, foundations, religious organizations and other nonprofit entities, individuals, retirement plan sponsors, family office clients, certain corporate or similar institutions, or omnibus accounts maintained by financial intermediaries and that are approved by the Fund’s Distributor. Both classes of shares have identical rights and voting privileges with respect to the Fund in general and exclusive voting rights on matters that affect that class alone. Earnings, net assets, and net asset value per share may differ due to each class having its own expenses, such as transfer and shareholder servicing agent fees and registration fees, directly attributable to that class. Institutional shares are not subject to distribution fees. The Fund seeks to provide its shareholders with a high level of current income and total return by investing in bonds and other debt instruments that are consistent with the Fund’s social and environmental standards and the submanager’s security selection approach.

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates. The following is a summary of the Fund’s significant accounting policies.

(A) Valuation of Investments. Bonds and other fixed-income securities (other than obligations with maturities of 60 days or less) are valued on the basis of valuations furnished by an independent pricing service, use of which has been approved by the Board of Trustees of the Fund. In making such valuations, the pricing service utilizes both dealer-supplied valuations and electronic data processing techniques that take into account appropriate factors such as institutional-size trading in similar groups of securities, yield, quality, coupon rate, maturity, type of issue, trading characteristics, and other market data, without exclusive reliance upon quoted prices or exchange or over-the-counter prices, since such valuations are believed to reflect more accurately the fair value of such securities. Short-term obligations of sufficient credit quality (maturing in 60 days or less) are valued at amortized cost, which constitutes fair value as determined by the Board of Trustees of the Fund.

Securities (other than short-term obligations with remaining maturities of 60 days or less) for which there are no such quotations or valuations are valued at fair value as determined in good faith by or at the direction of the Fund's Board of Trustees.

The Funds follow a fair value hierarchy that distinguishes between (a) market participant assumptions developed based on market data obtained from sources independent of the reporting entity (observable inputs) and (b) the Fund's own assumptions about market participant assumptions developed based on the best information available in the circumstances (unobservable inputs). These inputs are used in determining the value of the Funds' investments and are summarized in the following fair value hierarchy:

Level 1 — quoted prices in active markets for identical securities

Level 2 — other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar securities, interest rates, and evaluated quotation obtained from pricing services)

Level 3 — significant unobservable inputs (including the Funds' own assumptions in determining the fair value of investments)

The inputs or methodology used for valuing securities are not an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities.

The following is a summary of the inputs used, as of January 31, 2014, in valuing the Fund's assets carried at fair value:

	Level 1 - Quoted Prices	Level 2 - Other Significant Observable Inputs	Level 3 - Significant Unobservable Inputs	Total
U.S. Government Agency Obligations.	$ —	$ 50,108,399	$ —	$ 50,108,399
U.S. Government Agency Mortgage Securities.	—	49,408,449	—	49,408,449
Corporate Obligations.	—	19,657,182	—	19,657,182
Corporate Mortgage Securities	—	1,414,205	—	1,414,205

Cash Equivalents	—	757,980	—	757,980

The investment types categorized above were valued using indicative broker quotes and are therefore considered Level 3 inputs. Quantitative unobservable inputs used by the brokers are often proprietary and not provided to the Fund, and therefore the disclosure that would address these inputs is not included above.

Following is a reconciliation of Level 3 assets for which significant unobservable inputs were used to determine fair value:

Investments in Securities
Balance as of July 31, 2013	$ 1,912,352
Realized Gain (loss)	-
Change in unrealized appreciation (depreciation)	36,328
Purchases	2,707,725
Sales	(963,679)
Transfers in and/or out of Level Three	(3,692,726)
Balance as of January 31, 2014	$ -
The change in unrealized appreciation (depreciation) included in earnings relating to securities still held at January 31, 2014	$ -

Transfers from Level 2 to Level 3 included securities valued at $963,679 that were transferred as a result of quoted prices in active markets not being readily available. Transfers out of Level 3 into Level 2 included securities valued at $4,656,405 because market values were readily available from a pricing agent for which fair value factors were previously applied.

(B) Repurchase Agreements. The Fund may enter into repurchase agreements with selected banks or broker-dealers. Each repurchase agreement is recorded at cost, which approximates fair value. The Fund requires that collateral, represented by securities (primarily U.S. government agency securities) in a repurchase transaction, be maintained in a segregated account with a custodian bank in a manner sufficient to enable the Fund to obtain those securities in the event of a default of the counterparty. In the event of default or bankruptcy by another party to the repurchase agreement, retention of the collateral may be subject to legal proceedings.

(C) Investment Transactions, Investment Income, and Dividends to Shareholders. The Fund earns income daily, net of Fund expenses. Dividends to shareholders are usually declared daily and paid monthly from net investment income. Distributions to shareholders of realized capital gains, if any, are made annually. Distributions are determined in conformity with income tax regulations, which may differ from generally accepted accounting principles. Reclassifications have been made to the Fund's components of net assets to reflect income and gains available for distribution (or available capital loss carryovers, as applicable) under income tax regulations.

Investment transactions are accounted for on trade date. Realized gains and losses from security transactions are determined on the basis of identified cost. Interest income is recorded on an accrual basis.

(D) Federal Taxes. The Fund's policy is to comply with the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code applicable to regulated investment companies and to distribute substantially all of its taxable income, including net realized gains, if any, within the prescribed time periods. Accordingly, no provision for federal income or excise tax is deemed necessary.

As of January 31, 2014, tax years 2010 through 2013 remain subject to examination by the Fund's major tax jurisdictions, which include the United States of America, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and New York State.

(E) Redemption Fees. Redemptions and exchanges of Fund shares held less than 30 days may be subject to the Fund's redemption fee, which is 2% of the amount redeemed. Such fees are retained by the Fund and are recorded as an adjustment to paid-in capital.

(F) Other. Income, expenses (other than those attributable to a specific class), gains, and losses are allocated on a daily basis to each class of shares based upon the relative proportion of net assets represented by such class. Operating expenses directly attributable to a specific class are charged against the operations of that class.

(G) Indemnification. The Funds' organizational documents provide current and former trustees and officers with a limited indemnification against liabilities arising in connection with the performance of their duties to the Funds. In the normal course of business, the Funds may also enter into contracts that provide general indemnifications. The Funds' maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown as this would be dependent on future claims that may be made against the Funds. The risk of material loss from such claims is considered remote.

2. TRANSACTIONS WITH AFFILIATES

(A) Manager/Administrator. The Fund has retained Domini Social Investments LLC (Domini) to serve as investment manager and administrator. The services provided by Domini consist of investment supervisory services, overall operational support, and administrative services, including the provision of general office facilities and supervising the overall administration of the Fund. For its services under the Management Agreement, Domini receives from the Fund a fee accrued daily and paid monthly at an annual rate equal to 0.40% of the first $500 million of the Fund's net assets managed, 0.38% of the next $500 million of the Fund's net assets managed, and 0.35% of net assets managed in excess of $1 billion. For its services under the Administration Agreement, Domini receives from the Fund a fee accrued daily and paid monthly at an annual rate equal to 0.25% of the Fund's average daily net assets. For the period from November 30, 2013, until November 30, 2014, Domini is waiving its fee and reimbursing expenses to the extent necessary to keep the aggregate annual operating expenses of the Fund (excluding brokerage fees and commissions, interest, taxes, and other extraordinary expenses), net of waivers and reimbursements, at no greater than 0.95% and 0.65% of the average daily net assets representing Investor shares and Institutional shares, respectively. A similar fee waiver arrangement was in effect in prior periods. For the six months ended January 31, 2014, Domini reimbursed expenses totaling $77,723.

(B) Submanager. Seix Investment Advisors LLC ("Seix"), a wholly owned subsidiary of RidgeWorth Capital Management, Inc. ("RidgeWorth") (formerly known as Trusco Capital Management, Inc.) provides investment submanagement services to the Fund on a day-to-day basis pursuant to a Submanagement Agreement with Domini. Prior to April 25, 2008, the submanager's predecessor, Seix Investment Advisors, Inc., the former fixed income division of RidgeWorth, provided investment submanagement services to the Fund. RidgeWorth is a wholly owned subsidiary of Sun-Trust Banks, Inc. Seix Advisors was spun off into Seix in connection with a corporate reorganization of RidgeWorth.

(C) Distributor. The Board of Trustees of the Fund has adopted a Distribution Plan in accordance with Rule 12b-1 under the Act. DSIL Investment Services LLC, a wholly owned subsidiary of Domini (DSILD), acts as agent of the Fund in connection with the offering of shares of the Fund pursuant to a Distribution Agreement. Under the Distribution Plan, the Fund pays expenses incurred in connection with the sale of Investor shares and pays DSILD a distribution fee at an aggregate annual rate not to exceed 0.25% of the average daily net assets representing the Investor shares. For the six months ended January 31, 2014, fees waived by the Investor shares totaled $89,697.

5. NEW ACCOUNTING PRONOUNCEMENTS

In December 2011, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (“FASB”) issued Accounting Standard Update (“ASU”) No. 2011-11, Disclosures about Offsetting Assets and Liabilities. The disclosure requirements are effective for interim and annual reporting periods beginning on or after January 1, 2013.

As of January 31, 2014, management of the Fund has concluded, that no additional financial statement disclosure is necessary as a result of adopting this ASU.
